

Rejected candidates retry the same planned context; accepted samples are verified and exported without raw provider or validation payloads.